TEUTON LINE IN BELGIUM BREAKS BEFORE BRITISH

Germans Retreat on a Two-mile Front.

Last Artillery Vantage Point Is Lost By Teutons.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

The German line in Belgium is crumbling under the British offensive here.

Evidence of this appears today in the announcement by London of a German retreat on a front of approximately two miles in the area south-west of Warneton.

After wiping out the Messines salient in the crushing attacks last week, General Plumer continued attacking the Germans from time to time east of Messines and gained additional ground there.

Further south, also, the British have exerted pressure upon General von Arnim's lines.

Having lost the last of the commanding artillery and observation positions in this region when the Messines Ridge fell into British hands, the Germans are finding the pressure at some points beyond their ability to meet.

One of the first results has been the abandonment of important sections of their first line between the River Lys and St. Yves.

General Haig announces that the British are following the Germans closely and are moving forward in the neighborhood of Gaspard Village.

On the French front conditions remain comparatively quiet. Last night the Germans, after bombardment, attacked French posts in the Aisne region northwest of Verdun. The French easily repulsed these assaults.

WILSON'S FLAG DAY ADDRESS

Woe Be Unto Men Who Stand in Way of Our Great Purpose.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, June 14.—President Wilson warned the American people in a Flag Day address on the Washington monument grounds today that Germany has carried into effect the greater part of her immediate plan of conquest and now is negotiating a new "intrigue of peace" designed to end the war while her aggressions are secure.

All the central empires, the President declared, have been cemented into one great autocracy—ridden empires, "throwing a broad belt of German military power and political control across the very center of Europe and beyond the Mediterranean into the heart of Asia." This accomplished, he said, it is easy to understand why Germany is fostering a propaganda for an early peace.

"Peace, peace, peace has been the talk of her foreign office for now a year and more," said the President. "A little of the talk has been public, but most of it has been private. Through all sorts of channels it has come to me and in all sorts of guises. The military masters under whom Germany is bleeding see very clearly to what fate has brought them. If they can secure peace now with the immense advantages still in their hands which they have up to this point apparently gained, they will have justified themselves before the German people; they will have gained by force what they promised to gain by it."

The President recited again the German aggressions which drove the United States to war. He declared the purpose for which American soldiers now carry the Stars and Stripes to Europe for the first time in history are not new to American traditions because realization of Germany's war aims must eventually mean the undoing of the whole world.

"We meet to celebrate Flag Day because this flag which we honour and under which we serve is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation," said the President. "The choices are ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices, whether in peace or in war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us—speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it. We celebrate the day of its birth and from its birth until now, it has witnessed a great history, and floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people. We are about to carry it into battle, to lift it where it will draw the fire of our enemies. We are about to bid thousands, hundreds of thousands, it may be millions, of our men, the young, the strong, the capable men of the nation, to go forth and die beneath it on fields of blood far away."

"For us there is but one choice. We have made it. Woe be to the man or group of men that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution when every principle we hold dearest is to be vindicated and made secure for the salvation of the nations. We are ready to plead at the bar of history, and our flag shall wear a new lustre. Once more we shall make good with our lives and fortunes the great faith to which we were born, and a new glory shall shine in the face of our people."

GERMAN SOCIAL DEMOCRATS MEET

(Associated Press Cable.)

Stockholm, via London, June 14.—The delegation sent by the German Social Democratic Party and the German trades unions to the International Socialist Conference conferred on Monday and Tuesday with the permanent Dutch-Scandinavian Committee, which submitted to it questions which have been, or will be, placed before all the other delegations.

The arrangements to be reached regarding Alsace-Lorraine and Belgium were discussed at length.

The Germans replied in writing to these questions, and their answers will be published shortly.

FOES PRAISE THE ITALIANS FOR WAR ABOVE CLOUDS

HIGHEST BATTLEGROUND IN EUROPE—ITALIAN TRENCH HIGH UP ON THE AUSTRO-ITALIAN FRONT.

Even Austrian writers on the war now admit that the Italian offensive against the tremendously strong Austrian positions in the mountains succeeded in its objective and that the efforts of the Italian arms deserve the highest admiration.

The correspondent of the Kolnische Zeitung, writing from the Austrian great headquarters, says that after two years of fighting the Italian army has reached its highest state of efficiency. Only such an army, with the necessary equipment, could have gained the results achieved during the offensive—a struggle that perhaps the army of no other great nation has had to make.

Machine gun companies, acting in dependant of other units, played an important part in the Italian offensive. The added mobility of these troops, the writer says, enabled them to perform the work of four companies of infantry in mountain fighting.

In the picture are seen Italians in a trench high up in the mountains awaiting an attack by the enemy.

18 DEAD FACTORY COLLAPSED

Paris Reports Munitions Factory Horror.

(Associated Press Cable.)

Paris, June 14.—Eighteen dead and sixty injured persons have been taken from the ruins of the munitions factory which collapsed yesterday.

The accident was caused by the breaking of a beam supporting the third floor of the building, in which 800 persons were at work. The whole structure collapsed. Many of the workers escaped before the building came down.

'NOTHER SLICE IS TAKEN OFF

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, June 14.—The House war tax bill was decreased about $9,000,000 more today by the Senate Finance Committee, in deciding to reduce the manufacturers' tax on athletic goods, patent medicines, perfumes and cosmetics from five to two percent.

TAX ON "SPIRITS"

Rates on distilled spirits, malt liquors, wines and soft drinks, raising an aggregate of about $166,000,000, were finally approved by the committee virtually as drafted by the House.

The committee also ratified its former tentative approval of amendments by Senator Gore of Oklahoma placing prohibitory taxes upon cereals used in manufacturing distilled spirits for beverage purposes, and also prohibiting importation of such beverages.

The House rates of $2.20 per gallon on distilled spirits and $2.75 a barrel on malt liquors were retained.

AIR RAID FATALITIES INCREASED

Pathetic Scenes in Hospitals of London.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 14.—A number of persons injured in yesterday's attack on London by German airplanes succumbed to their wounds during the night.

Firemen, ambulance workers, physicians and nurses, assisted by the police, were engaged throughout the night in search for the bodies of victims in the areas which suffered most heavily.

There were pathetic scenes in hospitals and police stations, where women and men waited for hours in hope of receiving more favorable news regarding missing relatives.

HARVARD UNIT SAFE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Cambridge, Mass., June 14.—The Harvard unit of the American field service has arrived safely in Bordeaux according to a cablegram received here.

The unit started immediately for Paris, and will go from there to Meaux, where a school for ambulance drivers has been opened.

There are twenty-five members in the unit.

EXPLOSION KILLS FIFTY

Manufacturing Town Near Manchester, England, Reports Frightful Life Loss.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 14.—Fifty persons were killed and many injured by an explosion at Ashton-Under-Lyne, Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer announced in the House of Commons today.

Ashton-Under-Lyne is a manufacturing town near Manchester.

ROYALTY HAS QUIT COUNTRY

Constantine Sails Away on British Ship.

(Associated Press Cable.)

Athens, June 12, via London, June 14.—Former King Constantine left Athens late today to embark in a British warship.

Constantine was accompanied by the former Queen and Crown Prince and other members of the family. They left the city by motor car.

Professor Georgios Streit, former adviser of the Greek Foreign Office, went with Constantine as his secretary.

ALLIES LAND IN GREECE

(Associated Press Cable.)

Athens, Greece, via London, June 14.—Entente forces are now landing at the Piraeus and Castalla.

Some of the troops are occupying the heights near Phaleron Bay, while others are marching to Athens.

The landing of Entente troops has been effected at the points on the coast nearest to Athen, probably for the purpose of preserving order in the capital and giving support to the new government to be set up in consequence of the abdication of King Constantine. Piraeus is the port of Athens, five miles from that city.

The French War Office yesterday announced the occupation of the important railroad town of Larissa, 130 miles northwest of Athens, by French cavalry.

CONSTANTINE ADDRESS GREEKS

(Associated Press Cable.)

Athens, June 12, via London, June 14 (delayed).—The proclamation of former King Constantine announcing his abdication was posted throughout the streets today. It says:

"Obeying the necessity of fulfilling my duty toward Greece, I am departing from my beloved country with the heir to the throne and am leaving my son Alexander the crown."

"I beg of you to accept my decision with calm, as the slightest incident may lead to a great catastrophe."

GERMANY PAINED

(Associated Press Cable.)

The Hague, via London, June 14.—A Cologne dispatch says that the news of King Constantine's abdication created a painful impression at German Headquarters.

The Emperor expressed great chagrin and sent his brother-in-law and Queen Sophia a message of sympathy.

ENLISTING BRITISH IS WHITE'S WORK HIS SON A SOLDIER

L. T. C. J. WHITE AND BRIGADIER W. A. WHITE.

This photograph shows Brigadier General W. A. White (seated) and Second Lieutenant C. J. White (standing). Lieutenant White is the only son of General White, in command of the British recruiting commission in the United States. Lieutenant White, with father's consent, enlisted at the age of seventeen, and, after nine months' active fighting service in the trenches in France, he was transferred to General White's staff for recruiting. The boy is not yet of military age, being only eighteen. When he is nineteen he will return to do his bit on the firing line in France. General White is "rounding up" the British subjects in America available for military service.

A MISSION FROM JAPS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, June 14.—Japan will send a mission to the United States. The mission will have broad powers, especially in diplomatic consultations, and is expected to leave Japan during the first part of July.

CLOSER UNION

The mission is regarded as offering an unparalleled opportunity for a closer understanding between the United States and Japan, through a full discussion of the many complex questions of the unsettled Far East. The change through the eradication of German influence and the necessary curtailing of British, French and Russian power, creating a new community of interests between the United States, Japan and China, will be gone into fully.

Viscount Kikujiro Ichi will head the Japanese mission.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 14.—Zeppelin L43 has been destroyed over the North Sea by British naval forces, Chancellor Bonar Law announced today in the House of Commons.

MANY ENJOY BIG PICNIC AND OUTING

Annual Outing of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association Under Ideal Conditions Proves the Magnet Which Takes Many Townfolks to the Country.

The annual Fish and Game Association picnic for 1917 is now an event of the past. It has taken its place among those pleasant memories of the past. It is now one of those bright mile-posts which mark the happy spans of life.

Men from every walk of the business and social affairs of the community met at beautiful Cedar Hurst on Wednesday and fraternized. The picnic was one of the great later day democracy builders—a gathering which recognized neither creed, caste nor political affiliation. Every man present was a good sport. He had to be.

The day was ideal in every particular, the meeting place beautiful beyond language to describe and the thorough arrangements both of the contests and entertainment went forward from beginning to close without a hitch of any kind.

There was only one feature in connection with the whole affair which caused regret, and, in a measure, marred the completeness of the day's outing and that was the inability of a great many to be present as they had anticipated, because the beautiful day made work afield absolutely necessary. It is safe to estimate that the work on the farms kept at least a thousand enthusiasts at home.

While every one couldn't be there, unfortunately, every vocation in life was represented.

There were preachers, doctors, lawyers, politicians, rich men, poor men and all and every one had a royal good time.

The big picnic brought them all together, made them all children of nature for a day at least, took them from the busy places of life into the great out doors to the side of old mother nature for communion, where all could, and did, meet on common ground.

Men who have been "too busy" for years to get back to nature—men who had forgotten, in the press of every day affairs, how gentle, how generous and how forgiving nature is to her children left behind them for the time, the worries and cares of life and abandoned themselves to the full enjoyment of a perfect day and an ideal entertainment.

No wonder the organization has grown and prospered and gained in public esteem. The outings are the greatest community builders and barrier destroyers in existence.

Men who are accustomed to "service" in their dining rooms, men who because, perhaps, of too much pampering complain of a loss of appetite, men who are dignified and scrupulously neat in their attire in every day life, forgot all conventionalities and spent the day enjoyably in nature's home demeaned themselves in accordance with nature's simple rules of etiquette and used only nature's tables and nature's table ware. There were no "from soup to nuts courses, no spotless linen, few knives and forks and fewer spoons. Each lunch was laid under the spreading branches of the mighty trees, while the whispering breezes overhead furnished the music during "luncheon" and the birds staged the big cabaret performance.

The hostess capable of entertaining on a tremendous and wholesome scale was never garbed more beautifully in the various shades of green with where and there the generous trimming of the wild flower of a late spring.

The picnic was one grand glorious success in every way and the only thing to be regretted is that every body everywhere wasn't there to see the distinguished professional and business men, minus their coats, several other articles of ornamental wearing apparel which the rules of society compel them to wear, and minus their dignity too, merchants and bank clerks, whom we are accustomed to see, in every day life, "dolled up," rivals in horse shoe pitching contests, the bait casting and trap and rifle shooting unmindful of appearances and intent only on the wholesome games.

For a day we were all children again—children of nature—back home in nature's play grounds.

Some 60 new members were added to the roster of the Association, bringing the total membership up to near the 800 mark and offering every indication that the goal of "1000 members by 1918" will be reached.

The attendance was placed at 600 and this would have been much larger had not many members, long delayed with their farm work, felt the urgent necessity of their presence in the corn field. But their hearts were with the bunch at Cedar Hurst.

No one enjoyed the day more than General John C. Speaks, Chief Warden, who made many new friends by being "one of the boys."

Not a single accident marred the day, and everything was carried out according to plans, the various committees doing their part nobly.

And the beauty of the entire picnic is that it is an asset rather than a liability to the Association, as all expenses will be paid from receipts, to say nothing of the sociability and the rare enjoyment of the annual event.

The contests proved unusually spirited and drew large numbers of contestants.

One of the most interesting events was the Bait Casting, with Orme Brown, chairman. The results were as follows:

Accuracy (12 contestants):

Willis O. Ellis, average 97.6 per cent.

First prize:

Ursa Thornhill, average 97.5 per cent.

Second prize:

Arch Ribber, average 96.2 per cent.

Third prize:

Carl Reed, average 93.3 per cent.

Howard Allen, average 93.2 per cent.

Long Distance (14 contestants) to total for five casts:

Willis O. Ellis, 551 ft. 8 in., first prize.

Carl Reed, 432 ft. 6 in., second prize.

Jas. Haggerty, 409 ft. 10 in., third prize.

Arch Ribber, 384 ft. 4 in.; Ursa Thornhill, 334 ft. 10 in.

Horse Shoe Pitching, A. W. Duff, chairman:

Harry Boyer, first; Floyd Elliott, second; Otto Reno, third and Frank Minnick, fourth.

Rifle Contest, H. E. Daugherty, chairman: Horace Ireland, first; Dr. Herman Hodson, second; and Harry Buchanan, third.

Pistol, H. E. Daugherty, chairman: W. H. Icenhower, first; Harry Rankin, second and A. W. Rife, third.

Trap Shooting, Ed Fite, chairman: Ed Fite, first, breaking 16 out of 20; Mr. Free second; and A. W. Minnick, third.

There was no time for the story telling contest, and this was carried over until later when it may be taken up at a regular meeting as "unfinished business."

The warmest exhibition of baseball seen this year outside the major leagues took place in the morning on the Cedar Hurst diamond. Two all-star aggregations captained by Fred Cline and Bert Ellis battled five hot innings to a 6-4 victory for the latter. A throng of noisy fans cheered the contestants. Noon and Tillet were on the firing line for the Cline bunch; Sheets dished out the twisters for the Ellis lay out, with Turner taking 'em off the willow.

GYPSIES ORDERED OUT OF COUNTY

Sheriff Jones, Chief Moore and Patrolman Haggard made a flying visit to a camp of gypsies on the Yeoman pike, Tuesday night, in response to a call from citizens of that community, and found the gypsies encamped for the night. Upon their promise to behave themselves, they were permitted to remain until Wednesday morning, when they were given escort out of the county into Clinton.

Wednesday afternoon a party of the nomads reached this city, and it is believed they were the same ones driven out earlier in the day.

The police were notified and escorted the bunch out of the city.

LOCAL OFFICIALS NOTIFIED TO LOOK AFTER "SLACKERS"

The hunt for "slackers" in Fayette county is on, and the authorities desire the hearty cooperation of all citizens to ferret out the slackers if there are any.

The official order has been received to look after those who dodged registration, and place them under arrest.

It is noted in the order that quotas are to be assigned to the several states in proportion to their population as determined by the Bureau of Census and not in proportion to registration.

This makes it still more important all slackers be located at once. Everyone who failed to register is increasing the burden on the patriotic men who did register, and every effort should be made to locate all the slackers.

The aid of the sheriff, the police, marshals and constables through the county will be sought to bring all slackers to justice, and where a man is suspected of being a slacker, the matter should be reported for investigation.

RECORD SHIPMENT OF WHITE PAPER

By far the largest shipment of white paper commonly known as "news print" ever purchased in the city, has just arrived for The Herald Publishing Company, and has been placed in the large concrete storehouse back of the Herald building on South Fayette street.

The shipment, coming from the R. J. Booth Paper Company, of Ottawa, Canada, contains nearly 50,000 pounds of white paper, in huge rolls ready to be placed upon the big web press upon which The Herald is printed.

This paper, if placed in one continuous strip as wide as the Herald is from top to bottom would reach more than 400 miles, or from Washington C. H. to the Atlantic ocean. Stretched across Germany the strip would reach from the eastern boundary to the western, and some distance into Belgium.

SAY CHAUTAUQUA IS GREATEST EVER

Superintendent Wm. McClain, who is superintending a Coit-Alber Chautauqua at New Brighton, Pa., is enthusiastic over the talent offered this year, and which Washington citizens will have an opportunity of enjoying next week.

In a letter to The Herald Mr. McClain says in part:

"The chautauqua program is decidedly better than that of last year. It has so captivated the people here that the business came after me last night, and the committee actually offered that I give them a contract for next year. Thus it goes along well."

"There is not an intelligent family in Washington and Fayette county that can afford not to attend the chautauqua next week. Crowds good; spirit better; talent best ever."

GAIN WE DO HONOR TO THE STARRY BANNER

Today Has a New Significance to the American People This Year—We Salute the “Old Glory” Among the Flags of All Nations.

Never before in the lifetime of the present generation has the American flag meant more to the American people than it does today.

The true patriotic spirit that transformed the Pine Tree Flag into the Star-Spangled Banner, the same fiery enthusiasm that fought beneath the stars and stripes, the same devotion to duty that inspired the men of the Revolution, the same spirit that has made the United States a world power, is the spirit that has made the American flag the symbol of our nation's greatness.

The flag of the United States is the flag of the world. It is the flag of the brave, the flag of the noble, the flag of the free. It is the flag of the American people, the flag of the American dream, the flag of the American future.

The flag of the United States is the flag of the world. It is the flag of the brave, the flag of the noble, the flag of the free. It is the flag of the American people, the flag of the American dream, the flag of the American future.

stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation.

The number of the stripes having been increased by the admission of new states, the possibilities of the nation's future development dawned upon our fathers, the original thirteen stripes were unchangeably restored by act of Congress on April 4, 1818, when it was enacted: “That from and after the fourth of July next, the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be twenty stars, white in a blue field, and that on admission of a new state into the Union, one star be added to the Union of the flag; and such addition take effect on the Fourth day of July next, succeeding such admission.”

Our flag stands for the principles of freedom and justice, for which our forefathers have sacrificed their lives and happiness before us, and for which we promise to give every ounce of energy we are able to muster today. Already the stars and stripes float over our fellow countrymen who are fighting for humanity on the battlefields of Europe. The stream of young American manhood has started to the battlefield, and there will be no cessation until universal peace and happiness is restored.

In Social Circles

A June wedding touching a wide circle of relatives and friends in its interest was that of Miss Sybil Carter, daughter of Mr. Hamilton Carter, of Sabina, and Mr. Persi Pugsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pugsley, solemnized at half past two o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride in Sabina.

Although a simple home wedding it was marked by much beauty of appointment and a wealth of summer bloom in artistic arrangement throughout the large home. The young couple took their places with-out formality in the wide connecting doorway between the parlor and living room. Overhead white roses, honey suckel and greenery formed an arch and at either side were immense jardineers of pink and white roses and peonies mounted on pedestals entwined with green.

The bride, a beautiful girl of the brunette type, was wearing a lovely gown of white imported organdie trimmed in lace. Her going away gown was a modish tailored suit of dark blue.

Rev. Paul Lindley, of Carvel, Ind., performed the ring ceremony witnessed by sixty guests.

After congratulation the guests were seated for an elaborate collation. The wedding gifts were handsome and in great number.

The bride and bridegroom motored to this city with Mr. Carl Lloyd and the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Harry Pugsley, in time for the six o'clock train. After a wedding trip to Columbus, Cleveland and Niagara Falls they will make their home at Center Stock Farm, the country place of the bridegroom between Sabina and Milledgeville.

Good wishes galore will follow Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley on their trip.

The bride is a charming and accomplished young woman, the daughter of a well known retired farmer of Sabina.

The bridegroom, the grandson of the late John L. Persinger, and belonging on both sides to prominent families, as a well-to-do and successful young farmer, thoroughly up-to-the infirmity the inmates were given a treat of strawberries, cake and oranges and ice cream cones given to the children of the Home.

After the program Mrs. McCoy, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Wesley Wilson, and Mrs. Mattie McCoy, served delectable refreshments.

The flowers were sent to the shut-ins.

The Home Missionary Society held the June meeting in Grace Church parlors, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Edith Gardener led the devotionals, who gave the Syrian version of the twenty third psalm.

During the business session it was unanimously decided to give Dr. Page and Hughey a vote of thanks for the use of their room for a Rummage.

The nominating committee reported with a few exceptions.

Mrs. George Hays, the delegate, gave a most interesting report of the district convention held in Chillicothe.

There was a delightful program. Miss Helen Teeters played. Mrs. Corinne Larrimer gave a reading and Miss Louise Larrimer sang. Mrs. Glenn Rodgers gave a reading after which Miss Teeters closed the program with a second brilliant piano rendition.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed before the society adjourned to meet the second Wednesday in September. Thirty-five women attended.

The afternoon's hostesses were Mesdames Hughey, Stuckey, Noble, Tysor, Smith, Misses Light and Gardner.

Miss Lillian Barnes entertained her Sunday School Class, the “Sunbeams,” at her home on East Market street Wednesday afternoon. After an enjoyable hour of games, dainty refreshments were served on the lawn.

Those present were: Katharine Arnold, Hanna Louise Smith, Frances and Virginia Willis, Emmitt Backenstoe, John and Thelma Shackelford, Nona Louis Cripps, Helen Blair, Jaunita Willis Lottie Mansfield, Evelyn and Pauline Voss, Dorothy and Ruby Brown.

A charming pre-nuptial affair in compliment to Miss Gladys Jones, whose marriage to Mr. Burnette Hyer occurs Saturday, was a miscellaneous shower given by the two sisters of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Carson Maddox and Miss Mabel Jones, on Wednesday night.

The Maddox home was prettily en-fete with peonies and roses carrying out a red, white and blue color scheme.

Sixteen young women grouped merrily around the honor guests, who responded to their good wishes with becoming blushes and was exceedingly pretty in an elaborate gown of canary net over taffeta.

The hostesses wore lingerie gowns of white.

The delightful diversions of the evening included appropriate contests in which prizes were won by Miss Stella McCall and Miss Martha Baum.

A delicious repast was served and flags the souvenirs.

Mrs. Homer Ruley, of Columbus, was an out of town guest. The bride was showered with handsome gifts.

Regulating the Automobile

All over the country, and in the cities especially, the authorities are enforcing more rigidly the traffic laws and ordinances. As a consequence there is quite a falling off in the number of accidents and fatalities. People are beginning to move about with more confidence—they know their rights on the highways and they are gradually coming to believe that the other people know their rights and appreciate their responsibilities too.

The practice of "jay walking" by pedestrians—cutting across the street at any place the fancy strikes them—is being put under the ban too. Several arrests have been made in the larger cities and severe punishment has been inflicted upon those who persist in violating the laws and ordinances. We should be charitable in our criticism of officials who deal severely with traffic law violators because severe treatment is the only method that will compel realization and observance of the law's requirements.

If the very wholesome rules now existing could be supplemented by making it an offense to "tinker" with wheezy old automobiles on the main streets of the city, if the exhausts of some of the old rattle traps could be kept closed and the unnecessary screeching of horns stopped it would be like living again.

The automobile is here to stay—there is no doubt about that and now we must deal with it sanely but firmly. We are all accustomed now to seeing the autos whizz by—they are a part of our every day life accepted as such and its time that the poor pedestrian and city resident be restored to a few of his inalienable rights such as the right to live in peace and quiet.

The Story the Figures Tell

Many of the larger cities of the country are predicated claims to a very much larger population than that given to them in the census totals of 1910, upon the total registration under the new army law.

Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown, if the usual ratio of population is maintained during these times, have grown enormously during the last seven years.

Cleveland especially was claiming a population reaching well up to the million mark and was reasserting her claim to fourth position among the cities of the United States when Detroit came forward with claims which place the Strait City far ahead of Cleveland.

There is no doubt that Detroit, Cleveland, Youngstown and Akron have been experiencing a marvelous growth during the past seven years.

Detroit and Akron have been boomed substantially by the automobile and fire industries. The demand for labor in those two cities has been overwhelmingly greater than the supply and the splendid opportunities offered at both places have attracted young men from every section of the nation. The great steel mills of Youngstown, too, have been overburdened with prosperity and laborers have flocked to the county seat of Mahoning County.

Cleveland has been prosperous in almost every line of activity and her prosperity has been dependent upon no one of the many new industries.

While each one of the four cities would probably fail to maintain a ratio sufficient to bring up the totals to the figures indicated by the registration of June 5th, yet we are inclined to think that Cleveland's totals would come nearer that ratio than any other city mentioned.

Another King Quits

Another European Monarch has abdicated his throne as a direct result of the war.

King Constantine has surrendered the scepter, unable longer to maintain his power against the strong demand of the entente allies reinforced by the public clamor of the Greeks. The Government of King Constantine has been but little more than a form for months and it is not likely that that of his successor will be more.

In all Europe now the single instance in which autocratic power has been able to survive the storm of war is in Germany.

Supported by his military machine Emperor William is still able to dominate the people of Germany but that it is without their consent and approval the civilized world is now beginning to doubt. This is a time when monarchs are only powerful when they follow the demands of their subjects. The Czar of all Russia, supposedly the most powerful and autocratic ruler in all the world, was overthrown in a day as a result of the most remarkable revolution of all time.

People everywhere, save possibly only in Germany, are learning, at fearful cost, that all governments derive their power from the consent of the governed.

King Constantine only discovered the shadow of coming events and anticipated the inevitable. That he has been able to navigate his feeble ship of state so long in the conflicting currents of affairs which the world war has forced in a tempestuous whirlpool about Greece, is the only remarkable feature in connection with the whole affair.

Poetry For Today

"FOR THE FLAG, SON, FOR THE FLAG!"

Now rings throughout the land,
The fate of all our cherished hopes
Lies in thy boyish hand.
The cause for which our fathers bled,
That Mankind might be free,
Must live or die, the power to save
Is vested now in thee.

"For the Flag, Son, for the Flag!"

God bless thee, manly youth,
And keep thee safe while at the front,
To win the day for Truth.
But should thy life's blood quench the flames
Of war's consuming fires,
Thine honored name shall shine
Among
Those of thy martyred sires.

"For the Flag, Son, for the Flag!"

White stars in azure sea
Are symbols of pure Motherhood
That gave sweet life to thee.
The crimson stripes indicative
Of Freedom born of strife;
Defend it, lad, that Liberty
May have eternal life.

It is expected that a report will be received in a day or two respecting the new Tenth Regiment.

The Adjutant General said he expects an order from Washington by tomorrow with respect to the disposition of cavalry troops.

It is certain that the cavalry will be disbanded, but whether all or part of it will be transformed to artillery has not been made known by the War Department. While in Washington, the Ohio Guard officer conferred with federal officials respecting plans for the selective draft, which are soon to be announced.

He called attention to the fact that occupational exemption claims are to be handled by Federal district boards instead of the county or divisional boards, a fact, he said, that is not well known.

ASKS COURT TO DECIDE KNotty WILL QUESTIONS

Sale of Interests by Judy Heirs Raises Question of Ownership. Large Number of Defendants.

In the common pleas court, Thursday morning, S. W. Cissna, as executor of the last will and testament of Henry Judy, deceased, filed action to have the court construe certain sections of the Judy will as result of complications having arisen since the death of Mr. Judy in 1904. Mr. Cissna is represented by Post & Reid.

The plaintiff states that Nancy J. Shumate, sister of the testator Henry Judy, died testate with children, and that in the will of Henry Judy section five provided that "the real and residue" of the estate be sold and the money equally divided among the brothers and sisters and his business properties was to be managed by the executor, Cissna and at the death of testator's widow, to sell the property and divide the proceeds among the brothers and sisters, or their heirs.

That a 205 acre farm in Marion township was given widow of testator, and proceeds from the Dennis and Midland blocks.

Defendant Henry W. Willis claims to have purchased the interests of David T. Judy, Grace Belle Waits and Austin F. Williams, and claims ownership.

Plaintiff claims that by terms of the will the executor was authorized to sell the two blocks, and distribute proceeds to the heirs. That plaintiff is in doubt whether title to property vested in devisees mentioned in will at death of testator, or whether it vested at death of testator's widow. Plaintiff also is in doubt as to whether proceeds of sale should be distributed per capita among nephews and nieces of testator, or distributed among brother and sisters or their heirs living at death of testator.

Also as to whether the heirs of the devisees and legatees should be paid directly or the funds placed in the hands of their executors and administrators. As to whether estate vesting either at time of his death or death of widow, vests as real or personal estate; whether or not portions bequeathed to David T. Judy, Grace Belle Waits and Arthur W. Williams should be given to them or to H. W. Willis, and finally as to whether in the fifth item of the will of Nancy J. Shumate the funds should be paid to persons mentioned per stripes of per capita.

KNITTING UNITS TO BE ESTABLISHED

The Columbus Unit of the Comfort Committee of the Navy League has been organized by society women there, for the purpose of outfitting the sailors of the battleship Ohio, with jackets, scarfs and mittens.

In order to complete the great task as soon as possible, the Columbus women are wishful to establish in every city, town and village of the state, separate knitting units, to co-operate with the Columbus Unit.

Mrs. William G. Deshler, 86 East Broad street, is president of the Columbus Unit and Mrs. Claude Meeker, Melrose Place, Bexley, is chairman of the publicity committee.

Mrs. Meeker writes the following: "The interest of the unit at Columbus increases daily and has become a positive inspiration of wide reach. Every woman in our state at this most serious time feels the need to become useful—in however a small degree. To help clothe our brave sailors seems an act of true womanhood, befitting woman in whatever rank of life."

CARING FOR THE FIRST WAR VICTIM

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., June 14.—The Homeopathic hospital at the Ohio State University is caring for the first war victim to be treated in any hospital in Ohio. Kevoork Tashjian, an Armenian, who two years ago joined the Russian army against Turkey in the siege of Van in the Caucasian mountains, is being treated for illness resulting from a wound in the head.

Upon returning from the war country to the United States, Tashjian was referred to Vahan M. Magarian, homeopathic medicine student at the university and through his influence was placed in the hospital where he was practically recovered his health.

"When I am entirely well I will return to fight the Turks," says Tashjian.

WILL MOBILIZE OHIO'S HORSES

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., June 14.—Mobilization of horses for the big war, which was to have been started in Columbus in near future, with C. W. Payve in charge, has been postponed for an indefinite period, according to a wire received by Mr. Payve this week. No reason was assigned by the war department.

Mr. Payve was the agent for the British and French governments in getting horses for the war and he will probably act in a similar capacity for the United States. A horse mobilization camp has been established in Columbus. Work has already been started on the construction of the barns.

Your Money will not Save You

WHEN THE FOE IS AT THE DOOR

It will be too late then—as it was too late in Belgium. All the millions in the Belgian banks, all the wealth of Belgium's manufacturers and financiers, could not stem the tide of German cruelty; could not save the Belgian homes; could not save the Belgian mothers; could not save the Belgian babies or the Belgian girls.

And Belgium is now a DESERT WASTE, her homes in ashes, her cities leveled, her women and children starving, her men deported to work as slaves in German mills and mines. That is the treatment Germany's war lords have given hapless, hopeless, dying Belgium, and that's the treatment they'll give YOU, give ALL OF US if they get the chance.

The battles so far have been kept 4,000 miles away, and we want to KEEP THEM THERE.

And the only way to keep them there is to send to France and England all the ships and all the money and all the men and guns and shells we can.

To do this our Government needs money—our money — and is paying well for its use.

The Independence Bell.

There is no confiscation or unwarranted taking of possession. All we are asked to do is to LOAN our money at a fair rate of interest.

This is being accomplished through the sale of bonds — LIBERTY BONDS — and every man, woman and child in the United States should have one.

PLEASED WITH LOCAL PASTOR

An audience that completely filled the Friends Church listened attentively Sunday evening to a splendid Baccalaureate sermon, delivered to the graduating class of 1917 of Wilmington College by Rev. William Boynton Gage, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Washington C. H., and one of the prominent ministers of this section of Ohio.

Rev. Gage had an imposing appearance and a splendid delivery, and made an impression on his large audience that few visiting ministers have been able to score in Wilmington. His advice to the class was to learn the lesson of neighborliness and of kindly acts. He made the point that what the world needs today, what the world is crying out for, is love. People are putting in the background Christ's teachings of love for fellow mankind and are letting lust for possession rule them.

Rev. Gage cited the action of Christ washing the feet of the Disciples, and wondered if the rulers of the great countries of the world could stoop to an act of this kind, if they would feel the same deadly hatred for each other. He urges the class to practice kindness, to be friendly, to be neighborly and they will have performed the greatest service to the world in their power.—Wilmington News.

LOAN IS SHORT $340,000,000

(By American Press)

Washington, June 14.—Subscriptions to the liberty loan total $1,638,000,000, according to the treasury department's latest announcement. By districts the subscriptions are as follows:

New York, $758,000,000; Boston, $101,000,000; Philadelphia $83,000,000; Richmond, $55,000,000; Atlanta, $28,000,000; Chicago, $181,000,000; Cleveland, $153,000,000; St. Louis, $47,000,000; Minneapolis, $50,000,000; Kansas City, $58,000,000; Dallas, $29,000,000; San Francisco, $52,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller now owns $20,000,000 worth of liberty loan bonds. He subscribed to an additional $5,000,000, having previously purchased $15,000,000 of the bonds.

It was announced that the United States Steel corporation had subscribed $6,000,000 to the liberty loan at Pittsburgh. This will make an over subscription in the Pittsburgh district of more than $10,000,000.

The books will close Friday noon. A tremendous eleventh-hour drive throughout the nation, officials hope, will bring the final count of dollars well beyond the $2,000,000,000 mark.

New York is the only reserve district which has returned subscriptions higher than its minimum allotment. Not only has New York exceeded the minimum, but it has topped the maximum of $750,000,000 by $8,000,000. The Cleveland district is 15 per cent short of the minimum estimate.

Analysis of the figures discloses that outside of New York the country apparently failed by exactly $500,000,000 to take its minimum allotment of $1,400,000,000 of the bonds—the other $600,000,000 minimum being allotted to New York. Thus, while the New York district has oversubscribed its minimum allotment by approximately 25 per cent, the rest of the country as a whole apparently has fallen 36 per cent under its minimum.

The city of Cleveland reached the $50,000,000 mark in the campaign $5,000,000 more than its quota of $45,000,000. It is estimated by campaign managers that the city's subscriptions will total between $55,000,000 and $60,000,000 Friday noon. Columbus has passed the $6,000,000 mark.

(By American Press)

Boston, Jan. 14.—The armed Lalande freighter Anglian, 5,600 tons, which sailed from Boston on Memorial day with 10,000 tons of ammunition and foodstuffs has been torpedoed in the English channel, the local offices of the line announced. Five of the crew of fifty are reported missing, the cablegram from the British offices of the line said. Survivors were picked up by an English patrol boat and landed at a British port. The Anglian had an English 4.7 pound naval gun mounted on her stern, but it is not known whether the gun crew had any chance to use it. The report here stated the Anglian was attacked by a German submarine as she was entering the channel. The torpedo struck the Anglian amidships. A great hole was torn in her hull and she sank quickly. The vessel was in command of Captain Laurensen.

WAR HORRORS ARE VIVIDLY CALLED TO MIND

I. N. Rowe, Post Commander of the Millikan Post, Who Fought in the Union Army Through Four Years of the Civil War, and Spent Eight Months in Andersonville Prison, Relates His Experiences.

At this time, when the great war is no longer merely a bloody spectacle viewed from a safe distance across the sea, but a horrible actuality that our country must face, it is well to drop parlor discussion upon the ethics of war, and accustom ourselves to the suffering that may come by taking a new interest in the vivid war stories based upon the actual experiences of our own veterans. Mr. I. N. Rowe, of this city, who as a member of the 15th Army Corps, commanded by General John A. Logan, served through four years of the Civil War, has contributed the following account of his experiences:

"On July 22nd, 1864 the sun was unusually bright. It is a day long to be remembered by the surviving members of the division of the 15th Army Corps who were ordered to march upon the outlying trenches that guarded the Confederate stronghold at Atlanta, Georgia.

"On the previous day we had struck the Augusta and Charleston railroad at Stone Mountain, within three miles of Atlanta. Having torn up the tracks, we camped, with orders to advance upon the stronghold early the following morning. Many among the members of that brave little division were to fall, killed or wounded, and a few were destined to face a living death in Andersonville prison for many months.

"At 10:00 o'clock we were ordered to fall in line for battle. Advancing at double quick time, we soon reached the first line of the enemy's trenches. They had been evacuated, but we found out later that the enemy had only fallen back for a better hold. Soon a volley of shot from the pine woods on our left, accompanied by the frightful rebel yell gave us our first warning of the enemy's advance. Our line stood like a wall against the fearful onslaught of the rebels who were maddened by the influence of whiskey. After a sturdy resistance our left flank, which had been commanded by Captain McPherson, who fell with the first volley of rebel shot, was weakened and the enemy, having centered their full force in that quarter, swept through and closed in behind.

"Surrender, you— Looking around the writer faced six muskets.

all leveled and in the hands of the enemy. Knowing that resistance meant death, the remaining members of our squad laid down arms. And then the rebels had the impudence to ask me to carry my cartridge box back for them.

"No," I replied, "I am done with it. If you want it, carry it." They started us double-quick for Atlanta, one and one-half miles away. All along the way, rebels who had been too drunk to follow the charge, shot at us from the pine woods, killing and wounding several of our number.

"When we reached Atlanta, exhausted and almost famished from thirst we were taken to the public square. 'Twas there that a few noble women beat their way through the guards with large buckets of water. After dark that night we were marched to East Point, six miles from the city. On the following morning we received three crackers apiece, the only food we were given until we reached Andersonville stockade four days later.

"We were kept jammed into box cars, sixty to the car for twenty-four hours. For the first time, some of us thought that we were beginning to experience the hardships of prison life, but this was Paradise to what followed.

"At 5:00 o'clock on the fifth day we reached Andersonville. Even in our weakened condition, we were forced to stand in line while they squadroned us off. Here we received our first introduction to Captain Wurtz, who rode up and down the line, giving orders to shoot the first 'Yankee' that reeled out of line.

"When we were marched through the prison gates, a spectacle met our eyes that almost froze our blood with horror. Before us were forms that had once been active, stalwart men—now nothing but skeletons, covered with filth and vermin. We exclaimed as we entered, 'Can this be Hell? God alone can bring us out alive from this terrible place.'

"We wandered about until night, searching for a space large enough to lay our heads. Finally, I dropped upon a spot unprotected above or below.

When morning came, five of us went together as a family and found a space large enough to lay side by side and a thread bare and dirty blanket which we stretched upon four poles as a protection from the sweltering sun. In this manner we passed our days in Andersonville.

"A swamp occupied three of four acres in the center of the prison enclosure which covered twenty-four acres in all. As many as 33,000 men were confined in this space at one time. The swamp was necessarily the dumping place of the prison. The odors that arose from it were suffocating.

A sluggish brook that ran through the swamp furnished the only supply of water for the prisoners. Many a man was shot because he reached over the dead line, where the brook entered the prison, that he might get a clear cup of water.

Life was sustained by a portion of poor corn bread, two inches square with one-fourth pint of peas or stock beans. Each pea supported one to two bugs, and, unfortunately for the bugs, they were cooked along with the peas. These were the rations for twenty-four hours.

Thousands became living skeletons and roamed around, raving maniacs, until relieved by death. One young man, of excellent education and good birth, would go to the little brook at noon every day, take off his rags and wade backward and forward, but never washed himself.

"I am waiting for the water to come clean," the poor fellow would say when questioned about his unusual conduct. It never came clean, and the young man died.

Another fellow imagined himself to be an animal and wallowed through the swamp every day on his hands and knees. Another, who had apparently been an artist before the war began, made sketches in which rebels and devils fraternized together. These special cases were mild in comparison with what went on daily all about. Some were slowly devoured by maggots, scurvy and disease originating from the filth, exposure and impure atmosphere. Starvation was so great that the soldiers would eat anything. They died at the rate of 120 a day. 13,000 found their final resting places in Andersonville.

One of my own comrades came in to the prison with a plump dog. In less than two hours the canine was stewing in the kettle. Not only was the dog meat eaten by the starving prisoners, but soup was made and sold at ten cents a bowl. The writer, having no ten cents failed to get a dish of the soup—the only reason why he never ate dog.

"Men became crazy and lost all respect for their fellow-beings. Stealing of rations became so general that, at one time, the prisoners themselves formed a vigilance committee, to hunt down the thieves. Six were captured, and after a trial, all were hung by their fellow prisoners. At one time three successive efforts were made to digest a piece of apple pie to which one of the men had fallen heir.

"Three comrades were tenting together. The only household property which they had was a tin cup. While one poor fellow was dying, the other two fought like beasts for the possession of the cup.

In October, an exchange of 10,000 of the sick prisoners was made. All were drawn up in line and examined by sergeants. An officer passed our humble servant, grabbed him by the arm, struck him on the chest, and said: 'Oh, you are good for a year yet.' Two of my comrades were taken out and I, alone, of the squad was left. After searching about the stockade for several days, I found another member of my regiment who was among those whose lot it was to remain. We planned to bunk together, but neither of us had a blanket. We set to work, digging a long trench, about a foot and a half deep, and walling it up and arching it over with mud bricks. This made a fairly comfortable home in dry weather, but when it rained, the roof always caved in upon us.

Toward the last of our imprisonment, rations were issued to us raw. We would take our corn meal and make mush in a large quart cup. Salt was very scarce, so that, instead of putting it in the mush, we would only add a little bit to our drinking water, so that it would be possible to taste it slightly. We would gnaw raw beef off the bone, and we thought it the sweetest meat we had ever eaten. "Occasionally we would get information from the front through the new prisoners who were driven into the pen from time to time. We heard of Sherman and his famous march to the sea, and of his intention of liberating us from our horrible confinement.

"At last there came a day when we were taken from Andersonville and driven ahead of the advancing Union army. When we reached Goldsboro, N. C., our flight was halted by Sherman's army on the south and west and Grant's army hovering around Richmond. It was necessary to parole the prisoners here, and all who were able were sent back into the northern ranks. Those of us who were unable to stand in line were left to die in a pine wood in sight of Goldsboro. My famished condition was such that I could neither stand, see, nor walk. In the evening four or five white southern ladies, with their colored servants, came out from the town, bringing soup and drink. The colored men left and soon returned with a mule team, and took those of us who were still breathing into the town. Straw bunks were made for us on the floor of an empty tobacco warehouse. There we spent many days under the care of these kind southern ladies.

"As soon as I had gained strength enough to walk, I was paroled and sent to Wilmington, N. C., to our lines. When I reached Wilmington I weighed 70 pounds, could span my thigh, and had only the rim of a hat, the neckband of a shirt, the loose part of a blouse, the loose part of my trousers and the heels of my shoes which could still be tied on, to cover my body.

"A period of my life began here, after my arrival in Wilmington, of which I have no recollection except that I was slowly nursed back to life in the army hospital. As I became stronger I grew restless and followed the smoke of the departing transports with longing eyes. At last my physician in charge said to me one day:

"You've been tormenting me ever since your arrival here. Now, I'm going to risk you." I was sent to Annapolis, Md., where I received a bath, hair cut, shave and new suit of clothes. I was marched around to a soup house, fed, taken to a tent with nice clean straw and a wool blanket, and told to lay there until called for. "On Wednesday, at 4:00 o'clock, sometime in the spring of '65, I was put into the cars, with Columbus, O., as my destination. On the following Tuesday about dusk I arrived at the barracks in Columbus, and in a few days was given a furlough and orders to stay at home until my health had been restored.

Mr. Rowe, who lived in Staunton, O., when the war broke out, enlisted for service at the age of 18, during the first year of the conflict. Of the eight men from Staunton, who engaged in the battle of Pittsburg Landing, he was the only one who escaped without injury.

Conditions in the prison camps of Europe were even more frightful than those existing in Andersonville, until the Y. M. C. A. began relief work there. The national organization of the Y. M. C. A. in this country is planning a great campaign in the near future for the betterment of the conditions that our own boys may have to face on the battle front or in the prison camps.

Nearing the Goal.

Springfield, O., June 14.—Indications are that liberty loan subscriptions in Clark county would exceed the $1,500,000 goal. George H. Knight, grand commander of Knights Templar of Ohio, subscribed $5,000 for the bonds from the commandery's exchequer, establishing a precedent.

Killed by Electric Car.

Bucyrus, O., June 14.—Harry F. Denney, twenty-two, was struck and almost instantly killed by an interurban car as he was hurrying to Bucyrus to leave for Muskegon, Mich., to accompany the body of his uncle, Frank L. Denney, to Bucyrus for burial. A double funeral will now be held.

Woman Leaps From Courtroom.

Staubenville, O., June 14.—When the jury in the case of Mrs. Julia Fetroskey, twenty-five, charged with manslaughter, returned a verdict of guilty, the defendant broke away from her husband and court attendants, threw herself through an open window in the courtroom and plunged 100 feet to the stone pavement of the courtyard. She died almost instantly.

Women In Overalls.

Cleveland, June 14.—Women of Cleveland are doing their bit by working at manual labor to fill the jobs of men who have enlisted. Fifty of them, clad in overalls and dark-colored middie blouses, are wiping engines at the Erie roundhouse. Two dozen or more are working in the shops, running lathes and such. Thirty-five more have gone to work as checkers for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Gypsy Queen Held.

Upper Sandusky, O., June 14.—Up-to-date gypsies, riding in latest model automobiles, staged a bold robbery near here when they held up Orville Robey, driver of the Standard Oil auto truck, and relieved him of his pocketbook after he had refused to give them gasoline for their autos. Beulah Love, queen of the band, is being held in the city jail. A fine of $50 and costs has been assessed against her.
